volzDispenser 161-0269

volzDispenser 161-0269 is a fully automatic tape dispenser that cuts tape strips to length and then dispenses them. The tape length can be programmed to the millimeter via the durable keypad, and can also be stored for future operations. The lengths that are programmed can be recalled either repetitively or in sequence. The unit is equipped with two photocells as standard, allowing the simultaneous use of 2 tapes. A preset number of pieces can be set by means of a corresponding counter. The device is very easy to maintain and has a finger protection with switch-off contact.
