

volzDispenser 161-6200

volzDispenser 161-6200 is an industrial tape dispenser with electric motor for cutting high-adhesion adhesive tapes, metal foils, cover foils, tubes and other materials to length. Robust stainless steel housing with integrated roller suspension for solid use in industrial applications. Efficient guillotine cut with finger protection and switch-off contact. The device is optionally expandable and can be adapted to special applications.

Nominal Values

1

volzDispenser 161-6200

Applications

- For cutting high-adhesion adhesive tapes, metal foils, cover foils, tubes and other materials to length
- Intended for use in industrial applications
- As an option, the device can be expanded and adapted to special applications

Benefits

- Robust stainless steel housing with integrated roller suspension
- Efficient guillotine cut
- With finger guard and switch-off contact
- Optionally expandable

Print Date: 02.06.2025